

ABSTRACT

A probabilistic diagnostic system is validated. A diagnostic sequence is generated from a diagnostic model. The diagnostic sequence is evaluated to determine whether the diagnostic sequence provides an acceptable resolution to a problem. This is repeated for additional diagnostic sequences from the diagnostic model. It is determined whether a predetermined number of diagnostic sequences provide an acceptable resolution. When it is determined that the predetermined number of diagnostic sequences provide an acceptable resolution, the diagnostic model is accepted.

Document 10003528-1